SUBJECT Recruiting by the CIA

BELLA SHAW: Last night's fracas over a certain business recruiter at Brown University in Rhode Island did not recur today, even though representatives from the CIA were back on campus this morning. Several hundred students forced a CIA recruiter to abandon his speech to a student gathering last night by chanting a list of grievances ranging from the mining of Nicaraguan harbors to alleged CIA infiltration of campus groups. A police escort gave the recruiter safe passage off the campus. But the Agency's men were back at Brown this morning, and their individual interviews went uninterrupted.
